

Welcome to Groucho-Marx.com

Contributed by Web Master
Saturday, 26 July 2008
Last Updated Sunday, 27 July 2008

On behalf of config.com Internet services and Dave Beyers (Grouchos biggest fan) we welcome you to Groucho-Marx.com!

Dave used to run a Bulletin Board System (BBS) for the Ravenna community in Portage County, Ohio during the eighties called Groucho's Grotto. Many a local user also thought he even looked a little like Groucho Marx ;) As the Internet became commercial and the Bulletin Board users started to leave BBS's for the Internet, Dave established this web site to further pursue his love of Groucho Marx by establishing this domain to share his knowledge and otherwise provide information about the great Comedian Groucho Marx.

As a friend and peer of Daves, I decided on behalf of my Internet company config.com (also established in the city of Ravenna within Portage County, Ohio) to sponsor the hosting of his web site since it was non-commercial in nature, and would provide links and other information about Groucho Marx.

As the years have passed, millions of surfers have found this site very useful! The domain Groucho-Marx.com has been published in books and respected sites such as Wikipedia have even quoted the sites reference information.

The Internet is now evolving into what's become known as www2 which is defines the Internet as applied to such applications as social networking. Upon discussing this evolution of technology with Dave, he agreed to allow config.com to redesign his site using a Content Management Systems (CMS) and to implement social networking features for Groucho Marx and the Marx brothers fans worldwide to have a forum to share their interest and further learn about the impact they had on comedy throughout the world.

We hope you enjoy the site and welcome you to register for an account on Groucho-Marx.com for the additional features that are offered.

Best 'net regards,

Joe Rinehart, Network Administration and Dave Beyers, aka Groucho